

Are you looking to accelerate your research and leadership skills and contribute to advancing specialty certification?

Apply to the American Board of Medical Specialties Visiting Scholars Program

Research is the key to advancing some of the most pressing issues in health care and certification. The ABMS Visiting Scholars Program™ supports the research of early-career physicians and research professionals and facilitates leadership development through engagement with ABMS and the broader certification community.

ABMS Visiting Scholars' research contributes to the medical literature that supports the development and ongoing assessment of specialists who positively impact the quality, safety, and value of patient care.

Research priorities of the ABMS Research and Education Foundation

The ABMS Visiting Scholars Program supports projects that seek to advance the ABMS mission and address the research priorities of the ABMS Research and Education Foundation, the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation, and co-sponsoring ABMS Member Boards.

- Diagnostic and prognostic excellence within and across specialties
- Adoption of competency-based medical education and assessments across certification programs
- Racial equity and diversity across the health care continuum
- Continuing certification programs impact on physician well-being
- Physician engagement in quality improvement and patient safety

The 2024-2025 co-sponsor ABMS Member Boards are Allergy and Immunology, Dermatology, Emergency Medicine, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Ophthalmology, Orthopaedic Surgery, Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Radiology, Thoracic Surgery, and Urology.

The deadline to apply is 11:59 pm CT, June 17, 2024

THE ABMS VISITING SCHOLARS EXPERIENCE

- Consult with research and data science subject matter experts
- Learn from national thought leaders in medical education, certification, and health policy
- Build a professional network of colleagues across the board certification community
- Participate in ABMS community meetings, events, and professional health care forums
- Engage with research mentors and thought leaders across the certification community

The year-long program begins in September 2024. Scholars remain at their home institutions and work with self-selected mentors. At monthly virtual sessions, scholars present their research project and provide updates to their peers, mentors, subject matter experts, and ABMS Visiting Scholar alumni. Scholars present their research findings before a national audience at the ABMS Conference in 2025.
